

RP to seek return of wanted man

THE PHILIPPINES is set to file a formal extradition request with the United States to get back Melvin Trinidad, a medical doctor who is the third most-wanted kidnapper in the country, police sources said Sunday.

Trinidad allegedly financed kidnapping gangs in the Philippines and had an $850,000 bounty on his head.

Police and justice department sources said the Philippine government will initiate actions for his extradition.

Trinidad was arrested by US Federal Bureau of Investigation agents at his residence in West Covina near Los Angeles, California, on Thursday, officials of the Department of Interior and Local Government said the day after.

"He is a big catch," Interior Secretary Angelo Reyes said in an interview on ANC television. "He was quite elusive but he was caught. The arrangement was beautiful."

DEG officials said Trinidad was arrested while trying to sell a van to an FBI agent who had posed as a buyer.

The National Anti-Kidnapping Task Force (NAKTF) and the FBI had been working since March to get their hands on Trinidad.

They got a break last month after members of the Filipino community in West Covina told them their prey was engaged in the vehicle buy-and-sell business in the area as a cover, the officials said.

Trinidad will remain under FBI custody pending the formal extradition request from the Department of Justice, they said.

"He was on the run," Reyes said. "Sometimes, he would go to Canada. Apparently, he got wind of one effort to get him so he tried to be low but through the information of the Filipino community there, we were able to get him."

DEG officials said the government plans to give awards to the five FBI agents who helped catch Trinidad.

"The FBI played a big role and we want to acknowledge their participation," Reyes said. —Cristina V. Sison for Reuters, AFP

Different guns killed leftists, cops find

By Cristina V. Sison

DIFFERENT guns, more questions?

Different firearms were used to kill former leftist leaders Arsenio Tekera, Romeo "La Bello" Ebaner and Florentino "La Popay" Legaspi, according to the forensic test conducted by the Philippine National Police Crime Laboratory on the shells collected from the different crime scenes.

Despite this finding, Senior Supt. Raulito "Ringo" Mendrano, Task Force Taka's chief, said the PNP was sticking to its theory that the killings were the handiwork of the Communist Party of the Philippines' special operations group (SOG) and that they were the instigators' decision to leave the weapons unaltered for several years ago.

"We have very reliable information that they were killed by the same group," Mendrano told the Inquirer yesterday.

A driver claimed he saw two heavily armed men a few meters from where Tekera and his companions, Stephen Ong, were parked down on Sept. 20 at the SM North parking lot.

Investigators later identified the two men as members of the legislation unit's "blocking force."

"In the Tekera case, we still don't have any material witness who really saw the shooting," Mendrano said in a text message. "But we are optimistic that we can trace those persons in due time."

The police, meanwhile, are building a case of "conspiracy by collective decision" against CPT spokesman Gregorio "La Super" Rosal and top communist leaders Lea Velasco and Pederbino Cabalid.

A "policy" on the legislation was allegedly handed down by the CPT hierarchy which later became a "directive" carried out by the SOG, Mendrano said, citing intelligence reports.

Rosal, who admitted the CPT was behind the killing, could also be considered an accomplice in the Tekera killing, he said.

Corrections

IN THE ENTERTAINMENT section of the Oct. 8 issue, a story on Page A3—"Rio playing 'Everything'"—misstated the composer of the song, "The Way We Are a Child." The song was composed by American singer Twila Robb—not by Philippine singer Gary Valenciano.

IN THE ENTERTAINMENT section of the Oct. 7 issue, a story on Page A28—"I love you, AR, I love you"—misstated the location of the Goodford Hospital. The hospital is located in Stamford, California—not Chicago, Illinois.

IN THE OPINION section of the Oct. 7 issue, a letter written by Dennis Quea on Page A34—"Naposin: Let truth be told"—misstated that Rogelio M. Murga would enter as Naposin president and chief executive officer effective Dec. 31, 2003. President Macapagal-Arroyo granted Murga's wish to retire but prevailed upon the Naposin president and CEO to stay in his post until Dec. 31, 2004.

IN THE ENTERTAINMENT section of the Oct. 8 issue, a story on Page A35—"Ogie: I've been selfish"—misstated the composer of the songs, "Narito Ako" and "Baki Nasyon Ka Lang?" "Narito Ako" was composed by Asustado Pineda del Rosario—not Ogie Alkacid. "Baki Nasyon Ka Lang?" was composed by Alkacid and Dan Riquelme—not by Alkacid alone.

'Lumads' OK mining in S. Cotabato

MANILA, Oct. 10 — Lumad groups in the southern Philippines have agreed to a mining project in the region, a move that could open up the area to large-scale mining operations. The agreement, which was reached after months of negotiations, allows the government to explore for minerals in the area, but only if the Lumads are consulted and their concerns are addressed. The project is part of a larger effort to develop the region's natural resources and create jobs for the local population. However, some Lumad groups have expressed concerns about the potential impact of mining on their traditional lands and way of life. They argue that the project could lead to deforestation, loss of biodiversity, and displacement of communities. The government has promised to address these concerns and ensure that the project is carried out in a responsible and sustainable manner.

Politics: Land cited in failed P1.5-B seaport project

MANILA, Oct. 10 — A P1.5-billion seaport project in the Philippines has failed to move forward, with land issues cited as the main reason. The project, which was planned to be built in the area, has been delayed for years due to various factors, including land acquisition problems. The government has been unable to secure the necessary land for the project, and the local community has expressed concerns about the potential impact of the seaport on their environment and way of life. The project was initially approved by the government, but it has since been put on hold. The government is now working to resolve the land issues and restart the project. However, it is unclear when the project will be able to move forward.

Funding woes won't stop Sorsogon festival

SORSOGON, Oct. 10 — The Sorsogon Festival, a major cultural event in the Philippines, will go ahead despite funding issues. The festival, which is held annually, is a celebration of the city's rich cultural heritage and traditions. It features various activities, including music, dance, and sports. The festival is a major source of pride for the people of Sorsogon and attracts visitors from all over the country. Despite the fact that the festival has faced funding problems in the past, the local government and community are determined to see it through. They have managed to secure some funding from private sources and are confident that the festival will be a success.

Indigenous slain, 9 others washed in Hyuguan, Pangasinana

HYUGUAN, Pangasinana, Oct. 10 — A group of indigenous people were killed and others washed away in a river in Hyuguan, Pangasinana. The incident, which occurred on Oct. 9, was a tragic loss for the community. The victims were members of a local indigenous group, and their deaths have caused widespread grief and concern. The local government and authorities are investigating the incident to determine the cause and prevent such tragedies from happening again. They have promised to provide support and assistance to the affected families and community. The incident has also raised concerns about the safety of the area and the impact of development projects on the indigenous population.

MILF rift hinders peace process

MANILA, Oct. 1 (AP) — A deep rift between the main rebel groups in the Philippines has deepened, threatening the peace process. The National Democratic Alliance (NDA), a coalition of rebel groups, has been weakened by a split between the New People's Army (NPA) and the Abu Sayyaf Group (ASG). The NPA, the largest rebel group, has been fighting the government since 1972. The ASG, a smaller group, has been fighting the government since 1991. The rift between the two groups has been growing since 2005, when the NPA and ASG signed a ceasefire. The ceasefire was supposed to be a step towards a final peace agreement, but it has not been fully implemented. The NPA and ASG have both been accused of violating the ceasefire. The NPA has been accused of attacking government forces and civilians. The ASG has been accused of kidnapping and killing civilians. The rift between the two groups has made it difficult for them to work together on the peace process. The government has been trying to mediate the rift, but it has not been successful. The peace process is now in jeopardy.

Workshop on Global Studies (GGS) to be held in Manila

Studies on prayer power stir controversy

MANILA, Oct. 1 (AP) — A workshop on global studies (GGS) is being held in Manila, Philippines. The workshop is part of a series of events organized by the Department of Education (DepEd) to promote global education. The workshop will focus on the study of prayer and its power. The study of prayer has been a controversial topic in the Philippines, with some people believing that prayer has the power to change the world. The workshop will bring together experts in the field of prayer and global studies to discuss the latest research and findings. The workshop is expected to be a successful one, as it will provide an opportunity for experts to share their knowledge and experiences. The workshop is also expected to be a controversial one, as it will raise questions about the role of religion in education. The workshop is being held at the Manila Convention Center, which is a large and modern facility. The workshop is being held from October 1 to October 3, 2008. The workshop is open to all interested parties, including students, teachers, and researchers. The workshop is a free event, and tickets are available on a first-come, first-served basis. The workshop is a great opportunity for anyone interested in the study of prayer and global studies to learn more about the latest research and findings. The workshop is also a great opportunity for experts to share their knowledge and experiences. The workshop is being held at the Manila Convention Center, which is a large and modern facility. The workshop is being held from October 1 to October 3, 2008. The workshop is open to all interested parties, including students, teachers, and researchers. A poetess' perpetual quest for home

By David M. Jones

NOW, after a long and arduous journey, the poetess has found a home. It is a small, one-story house in the heart of the city, with a garden and a view of the water. The poetess has lived in many homes, but this is the first one that she has called home.
